

February 6, 2008

Agri-Pulse adds Stewart Doan to editorial team

Washington, D.C. – Veteran journalist and farm broadcaster Stewart Doan is joining Agri-Pulse in the new position of senior editor, further expanding the communications firm's cutting edge coverage of farm and rural policy issues. Doan will contribute to the weekly e-newsletter and provide audio coverage for the company's expanding web site at www.Agri-Pulse.com

"I've long admired Stewart's ability to provide succinct coverage and analysis of complex issues facing today's agricultural producers and partners," says Agri-Pulse Editor Sara Wyant. "We are very excited about tapping into his talent and experience, and providing our subscribers with his valuable insights into farm policy, market activity and rural trends."

Doan has covered agriculture for 25 years and is considered the premier cotton and rice journalist in the nation. He has been recognized by the National Cotton Council, the USA Rice Federation and the Arkansas Farm Bureau for his reporting on a wide range of agricultural policy issues.

In addition, Doan is respected on Capitol Hill and across the country, having cultivated hundreds of valuable sources who will be called upon to provide Agri-Pulse subscribers with meaningful analysis. He's at the forefront of breaking developments and news that can be used from ongoing national and international events. In 2007, Doan was invited to travel with Acting Secretary Chuck Conner, U.S. Trade Representative Susan Schwab, and members of Congress on a trip to South America. The National Association of Farm Broadcasting (NAFB) named Doan the 2006 National Farm Broadcaster of the Year. He is also a past president of the NAFB.

Agri-Pulse publishes the leading farm and rural policy e-newsletter in the United States. For more information, go to: www.Agri-Pulse.com or call our Washington, D.C. office at 202-547-5588.