

Agri-Pulse Ag & Food Policy Summit

Navigating Taxes, Trade and Technology: What's Ahead for Food & Agriculture

The National Press Club - Washington, D.C.

March 17, 2025

For American agriculture and the U.S. food system, 2025 has the potential to bring more sweeping legislative and regulatory changes than we've seen in at least four years and maybe in the last couple of decades. However, much depends on whether President-elect Donald Trump and the GOP-controlled House and Senate can stay unified to pass a major tax bill, address illegal immigration, reform trade agreements, repeal burdensome government regulations and more. Join us for the Agri-Pulse Ag & Food Policy Summit on March 17 to hear from leading industry experts about how these changes could impact you and your businesses.

- 8:00 Welcome
- 8:15 Panel: Transforming agriculture productivity through AI, new technologies
- 9:00 Panel Exploring the Outer Limits of Indoor Growing. What's happening with Controlled Environment Agriculture?
- 9:40 Senate Majority Leader John Thune (invited)
- 9:45 Break
- 10:15 Panel: Which Clean Fuels Tax Incentives will survive and help farmers thrive?
- 11:00 Panel: A Brave New World for Agricultural Trade and Tariff Policies
- 11:45 Lunch
- 12:30 Luncheon Keynote Brooke Rollins, USDA Secretary Nominee (invited)
- 1:15 Panel: What can you expect from the "Super Bowl" of tax debate in 2025?
- 2:00 Panel: How innovation, new technology can boost animal productivity, address disease outbreaks
- 2:45 Break
- 3:15 House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Jason Smith (invited)
- 3:45 Panel: Ag & Food Policy Insights for 2025 and beyond
- 4:45 Closing comments
- 5:00 Agri-Pulse Customer Appreciation Reception
- 7:00 Reception ends