July 6th, 2026 Re: DPR 26-001 – Pesticide-Treated Seeds

Please see attached list of supporters of stronger action to report and restrict pesticides treated seeds in California. Note there are 3,297 California residents and an additional 14,941 non California residents who weighed in to support limits on neonicotinoid coated seeds.

To the California Department of Pesticide Regulation,

Bee populations are declining, and a clear reason why is the use of neonics. Neonics are highly toxic to bees and other pollinators, and exposure to these pesticides can have lethal and chronic effects.

We need to do everything we can to save the bees. As the largest economy in the United States, if California takes action, it could shape policy and practices nationwide.

We urge the California Department of Pesticide Regulation to limit the use of bee-killing neonicotinoids on seeds.

In addition, we ask that you better track the sales and use of pesticide-treated seeds and to require anyone using these seeds to report when, where, and how they were used to better track any adverse effects the seeds have on the environment and human health.

Sincerely,
